

MIAMI LIGHTHOUSE RECEIVES $50,000 FOR THE HEIKEN CHILDREN'S VISION PROGRAM FROM THE DR. JOHN T. MACDONALD FOUNDATION

MIAMI—July 21, 2014—Miami Lighthouse for the Blind and Visually Impaired has received a grant award of $50,000 from the Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation to support its Heiken Children's Vision Program, a mobile eye care program that ensures underprivileged children in Miami-Dade do not go without necessary eye care.

"The Miami Lighthouse Heiken Children's Vision Program provides free comprehensive eye examinations and eyeglasses to thousands of low-income children who have failed the state-mandated vision screening in Miami-Dade County," said Miami Lighthouse President Virginia Jacko. The funding is crucial to fill the widening gap, as each year more than 8,000 schoolchildren need eye care that their families cannot afford and that is not covered by other resources.

"Without these services many Miami-Dade Public schoolchildren who fail their school's vision screening would continue to go through school unable to read and see the board, because their families do not have access to insurance and are financially disadvantaged," CEO Jacko said.

The Heiken Children's Vision Program was started by the Miami Dade Optometric Physicians Association in 1992 and merged with Miami Lighthouse in 2007. Since its inception, more than 84,000 needy children have received free eye examinations and glasses when prescribed.

The Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation grant will help support the direct operating cost of three mobile eye units and one portable optometric office which provide examinations and prescription eyeglasses at school sites for children who fail the state-mandated vision screenings. Eight schools which are of special interest to the Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation will be included in the program: Fulford Elementary, Gertrude Edelman/Sabal Palm Elementary, Greynolds Park Elementary, John F. Kennedy Middle School, North Miami Middle School, Booker T. Washington Senior High, North Miami Senior High and North Miami Beach High School. Miami Lighthouse operates five mobile optometric units that travel to schools to provide comprehensive eye examinations on-site under an agreement with Miami-Dade County Public Schools.
